

HULL-HOUSE

525 SOUTH HALSTED STREET
CHICAGO

Dear Sister Kelley

You overestimate the importance of the humble Bulliten. Of course you are not dropped from the list of residents as the card-catalogue would show, but it is a matter of convenience to know whom can be found at H+H and as people are constantly asking for you it grew to be a matter of information. However all that is nothing compared to your feelings in the matter, so back you go in the next issue, if you want to.

The Greek play promises to be one of the most popular undertakings we have ever had, and the greatest interest is being evinced in all the scholastic circles. The new building is really a great comfort and makes the house much more attractive and hospitable.

I am afraid that I did not acknowledge the check for the photographs, I have sadly neglected many duties of late owing to much speaking and money cares connected with the growth of H-H.

We are all homesick for both of you, please let us know the time of the Christmas arrival. With love to Kō, I am forever yours

Nov. 22d 1899

Jane Addams.