

WOMEN FACTORY INSPECTORS.Something About Gov. Altgeld's Appointees—Their Services to Labor.

Gov. Altgeld has appointed as factory inspectors Mrs. Florence Kelley and Mrs. Alzina Parsons Stevens. The following facts about the appointees will be found interesting:

The Chief Inspector, Mrs. Florence Kelley, is a daughter of the late Judge Kelley, who for many years was a Representative in Congress from Philadelphia, leader of the protective tariff forces. She has been actively connected with the Hull House movement, and with social questions, factory legislation and inspection in other States. She wielded a wide influence in the forming of the factory laws in Pennsylvania and New York and has had a wide experience as to child labor in various States. She is the author of the book, "Our Tilling Children," covering child labor in factories. She has recently been conducting an investigation into the condition of factory labor in Chicago for the Bureau of Labor Statistics at Washington. She speaks fluently German, French, Italian, and the jargon of the Russian Jews.

The assistant inspector, Mrs. Alzina Parsons Stevens, is widely known as the editor of the labor journal the Vanguard. She is a working woman, was a factory girl, and has ever been interested in labor lines as well as factory work. Of the deputy inspectors Miss Mary Kenny is probably the best known. She is an organizer of the American Federation of Labor. She was called to New York by President Gompers, where for a year she worked at organizing working women and girls. She is President of the Girl Bookbinders' Union of Chicago. She organized almost all of the women's unions of Chicago. A. Bisno is a cloakmaker. He has worked in all the departments of cloakmaking. He piloted the legislative committee in its trip through Chicago in search of sweatshops. Mrs. Belle Matteson Powell is a daughter of the last Democratic Governor of Illinois prior to the election of Altgeld. The other deputies from Chicago are well known as active workers in labor lines. Miss Mary Kenney and Joseph Ferris are members of the State Bureau of Labor Statistics but will resign those positions.

THOSE WHO HAVE PASSED AWAY.Death of Capt. O. G. Lenge, the First Swedish Settler in Chicago.

Capt. O. G. Lenge died at his home, No. 292 Irving avenue, early yesterday morning. He was 82 years of age and had been honored by the Swedish residents of the city on many occasions, having been the first Swede to set foot on Chicago soil. He was an honorary member of nearly every Swedish society in the city, and a short time ago a bronze bust of him was unveiled with elaborate ceremonies in the club-room of one of the most influential societies. Capt. Lenge was born July 4, 1811, in Gattenberg, Sweden. He came to America Sept. 30, 1824, residing in Boston until 1838, when he came to Chicago. His first work in the city was as a teacher, but he soon drifted into commercial lines and established the first drug store near Chicago on the line of the Illinois and Michigan Canal then being constructed near Peru. Shortly after he went into the foundry business at Kenosha, Wis., where he lived from 1856 to 1860. In the latter year he established a similar business at Kingsbury and Michigan streets. The last twenty years of his life were spent in the life insurance business. The funeral will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at his late residence. It will be attended by representatives of every Swedish society in the city. Burial will take place at Waldheim.

The Rev. Father Ferdinand Kavalage.

The funeral of the Rev. Father Ferdinand Kavalage of St. Francis' Church, the oldest Catholic priest in Chicago, who died Tuesday, will take place this morning from St. Francis Church, Twelfth street and Newberry avenue.
